Arrangements for Kedarnath

Kedarnath is one of the holiest and most significant temples in the Char Dham Yatra. The final stretch of the journey to the temple around 14 to 16 kilometers cannot be covered by vehicles and requires one of the following five available travel methods:

1. Walking / Trekking (Distance: 14–16 km)

- Recommended For: Physically fit yatris
- Religious Significance: Considered the most traditional and spiritually rewarding way to reach Kedarnath

Note: Proper footwear and gradual pacing is advised. Medical checkups will be done prior to trekking.

2. Pony (Horse Ride)

- Ideal For: Yatris weighing up to 70–80 kg
- Comfort Level: Moderate
- Estimated Cost: ₹5,500 (approx., including service charges and transfer)

Note: Suitable for those who are not fit for trekking but prefer an economical alternative.

3. Porter (Pithu / Bag Carrier)

Ideal For: Individuals weighing up to 60–70 kg

Comfort Level: Basic, suitable for light-weight passengers or elderly persons

Estimated Cost: ₹7,500 (approx., all inclusive)

Note: A single porter will carry the yatri on their back in a secure seating setup.

Arrangements for Kedarnath

4. Palkhi (Carried by Four Men on Shoulder)

Recommended For: Maximum comfort and safety, especially those weighing 80 kg and above or with health concerns

Estimated Cost: ₹12,000 (approx., all inclusive)

Comfort Level: High

Note: Offers relaxed travel, suitable for elderly or those with medical limitations.

5. Helicopter Service (Not Recommended as Primary Option)

Estimated Cost: ₹11,500–12,000 (may vary depending on helipad and conditions)

Capacity & Availability: Limited seats (max 200 yatris/day across 4 helipads)

Frequent cancellations due to unpredictable weather

Long waiting hours due to overbooking

Our Recommendation

Helicopters often face delays and cancellations. Use only if time-bound. For most yatris, pony, palkhi, or trekking are more reliable and meaningful.

Our Support

We arrange all options based on your health and preference, with full support for booking and coordination.

Note

Helicopter seats are limited and not guaranteed. Ground travel is safer and more dependable for timely darshan.
